GOV. MeSWEENEY AGREES TO AC- HOW VOLODYGVSKI WON THE CEPT FORMER'S RESIGNATION.

Gives Reason for Declining in the Correspondence.

A dispatch from Columbia, S. C., last night says: Decidedly the most sensational development in the senatorial tangle in this state is a letter which Governor McSweeney sent to Senator Tillman today. In his communication the governor informed Senator Tillman that if he "still wishes to re sign and will send to this office an unconditional resignation. I will exercise the authority and power vested in me by the people." This means that the governor will accept Senator Tillman's resignation if it shall be formulated on that line. The letter follows:

"Your letter of June 1 has been reeived. I have carefully noted its contents, and the most charitable view which I can take of it is that it was written in the heat of passion and without due consideration. I note that you say that I have 'transcended my authority' and that the governor 'cannot compel a member of the United States Senate to hold his commission and exercise the functions of that office if he chooses to surrender it.' And that you 'decline for the present to withdraw' your resignation. Had you read carefully my letter addressed to you and to Senator McLaurin, you must have seen that I did not express any desire to compel a member of the United States Senate to hold his commission and exercise the functions of that office if he choose to sur-

"My sole purpose in returning the resig-nations was to ask you gentlemen to consider calmly and thoughtfully the conse-quences to the people of what I judged to be a hasty act, and what you admit to have been a hasty act, and I must confess that I am somewhat surprised at the tone of your answer to my request.

"I considered the course which I took in this matter to be for the best interest of the people of South Carolina, and I am responsible to them alone for my action, and, furthermore, I still believe that my course has met the approval of a majority of the citizens of the state; nor do I consider them unthinking citizens, but men who know and recognize as fully as any people on earth the rights and duties and responsibilities of citizenship, and who do not need the services of any one to tell them that duty. them their duty.

"Your insinuation that I have been 'importuned' to 'await the convenience' of any present or would-be aspirants who 'are not just yet ready, for various reasons, to enter the contest brought on so unexpectedly, and that for this reason my action has taken the direction it has,' is unworthy of a man holding the high commission which has been given you by the people of South Carolina, and deserves no notice in this connection. notice in this connection.
"However, I may say for your benefit that I alone am responsible for my reply, and will give account for the course I have taken to the people who have honored me, and not to any one individual. In this matter I have done what I thought best calculated to promote the present pros-perity and contentment of the people of my state and shall continue to do so, regardless of what any one may say or think of my course. I did not think that a political campaign this summer could do any good, and acted according to my belief. However, had the resignations been unconditional and unrestricted, my action might have been otherwise. With due respect for your opinion, I think I have as high conception of the office of senator and its powers as you or any other citizen of this state, and you must have known that the brief interview to which you refer means that I would simply meet the responsibility and perform my duty under the conditions. If you still wish to resign your commission, and will send to this office an the people." Senator Tillman, protesting against the resignations, has withdrawn his resigna-tion. In his letter to Governor McSweeney, Senator Tillman says:

"I have Senator McLaurin's communication, in which he graciously consents, at your request, to hold on to his commission as United States senator and continue to serve the state as he had done in the past, to the best of his ability.

""This leaves me one of three alternatives:

To appeal to the democratic executive committee to take the matter up and de-termine what the best interest of the party requires to be done; to appeal to the Senate itself to determine the question as to whether a resignation from that body, to take effect at some future time, is binding, or withdraw my own resignation.

"There are no precedents on this subject, because in the 125 years of our national life, with more than 200 resignations from the Senate, no senator has hitherto been willing to occupy the despicable attitude now assumed by Senator McLaurin, and forced on me.

"I am certain of one thing-that the executive of a state has no authority to de-cline a resignation that has been tendered, and I am equally certain that had your excellency confined your action within legal bounds your appointees would be seated in the Senate when that body meets in December, and hold their seats until the legis-lature should act in January.
"My chief regret is that I am forced by world will consider a game of opera bouffe, by withdrawing my own resignation after Senator McLaurin's undignified and puerile action; but the purpose for which it was tendered has been thwarted by Senator McLaurin's precipitous acceptance of executive advice. Bob Acres has been outdone for once. I have already said I had no motive or purpose in resigning, except to force McLaurin's, and there is nothing for me to do but accept the situation and withdraw my own resignation, if it be lawful to do so."

With the governor's "last word" at Sena-Tillman and the withdrawal of the senator's resignation all would seem to be over, but last night Senator McLaurin, after speaking very bitterly of the senior serator, made the declaration that if Tiliman will now tender to the governor the unconditional surrender of his office, he (McLaurin) would consider this a direct challenge to him, and would likewise resign and enter the contest for Tillman's place.

VERDICT FOR MRS. EDDY.

Suit for Libel by Mrs. Woodbury Thrown Out of Court.

Judge Charles U. Bell, in the superior court at Boston, brought to a sudden and unexpected end yesterday afternoon the famous $150,000 libed suit brought by Mrs. Josephine Curtis Woodbury of Boston against the Rev. Mary Baker Eddy of Concord, N. H., the founder and present head of the Christian Science Church, by ordering a verdict for the defendant.

A few minutes later the jury, which had been excluded while arguments were being made, was summoned into the court room.

After explaining briefly the cause for this course Judge Bell ordered the jury to find for the defendant, which it accordingly did in the usual form.

Counsel for Mrs. Woodbury filed exceptions on all the questions passed upon. They have not yet decided upon a definite course of action, but authorized it to be stated that they expect to carry the case to the supreme court.

This far-reaching decision of Judge Bell This far-maching decision of Judge Bell was given in response to one of two motions offered by Mr. Elder, senior counsel for Mrs. Eddy. This was that a verdict for the defendant be ordered on the evidence as it stood. The other motion, which was not sustained, was that the two counts in the declaration referring to the publication in the two Christian Science periodicals be stricken out. cals be stricken out.

Wine for All at Gravesend. Mr. W. C. Yesterday was the first occasion on which Lester Reiff being the mount. There was some delay at the start, but eventually an excellent one was effected, and Mr. Foxhall Keene's jockey, Henry, on Olympian, got away like a shot from a gun. He set the pace a cracker, and before Tottenham Corner was reached had spreadeagled his field. As they rounded and came into the straight it was seen that Volody-ovski was right there, running with great resolution.

A tremendous roar went up when it was seen that he had got on even terms a quar-ter of a mile from home, coming along at a rare clip, with William III in hot pursuit. "Volly," as he is called, left his opponents in great style, all but "Morny" Cannon's mount, hard ridden, which was running game as a pebble at the favorite's girths.
And so the pair passed the post.
Mr. Douglas Baird's Veronese, a 40 to 1 chance, was third, four lengths away, and the French jockey Watkins, on Floriform, just missed the place by a head. The betting against the winner was 5 to 2.

How Mr. Whitney Took His Honors. "It musses up the business of the day to win the derby." Mr. Whitney said, with a weary smile, when seen at his home in New York. "It's quite a piece of work, but very pleasant labor. But the greatest pleasure of it all to me is the fact that so big a share of the victory belongs to an American trainer and an American jockey. I am quite sure that Mr. Huggins is the first American who ever trained the win-ner of the derby. And as for little Lester Reiff, the first of our boys to ride a win-ner in that event, he must receive his full share of the praise.

"I was very confident. Of course you know I never bet on a race myself. But I told my friends that the three-year-old was in perfect form, and that I confidently anticipated a victory. I should not be surprised to learn that a good many Americans are happier by many dollars over the outcome of the race.

"The last time I saw Volodyovski was at Goodwood last fall, when he won handly as a two-year-old. He was in great form then. I then formed my opinion of the horse's qualities, and saw in him a dangerous competitor for the classic derby, and I have since had no reason to change it. The horse was then running in the stable of Lord William Beresford, in which I owned a part interest. When Lord William died, five or six months ago, the question arose whether I should take over his entire stable, including both Trainer Hug-gins and Jockey Reiff, or seek a new part-ner. I decided to take over the stable. I ner. I decided to take over the stable. I paid for Volodyovski's racing qualities, and I shall keep him until the end of his fourth year. I expect other big things from him. But this, of course, is the capital prize, be-yond which there is nothing.

Conditions Were Favorable.

"I understand that the track was good, stakes on the opening day of the Craven meet there was a heavy, muddy track, which was not at all to the liking of Mascommission, and will send to this office an unconditional resignation, I will exercise the authority and power vested in me by the people."

Senator Tillman, protesting against the governor's right to reject the senatorial senatori and was a strong favorite. The conditions were all favorable for him, but you must not forget to give all possible credit to Mr. Huggins and to Jockey Reiff. "You have many horses in England, Mr.

Whitney?"
"Well, from twenty to thirty. No, say about twenty. I have several Americanbred horses among them."
"And what is to be the next big victory?" Mr. Whitney smiled at this.
"Ah, we must wait for that," he said. "I sent over Kilmarnock, expecting to hear good things of him. I am in hopes that he will carry off the Ascot cup on the 20th." Free Punch for All. According to the New York Times Mr.

Whitney sent the following to P. J. Dwyer, president Brooklyn Jockey Club: "The winning of the Derby is a real triumph for Mr. Huggins, who has so many friends among racing people that I 'Huggins punch,' free to all, as a tribute to his skill." This notice was posted early, copies of

This notice was posted early, copies of the announcement being displayed conspicuously all over the race track inclosure of the Brooklyn Jockey Club at Gravesend, L. I. Mr. Whitney may have meant something else, but it was interpreted by the race track crowd as meaning "free drinks" and the word was passed with speed.

Free drinks they were, from the exclusive confines of the club house to the lest sive confines of the club house to the last bar of the public stand, and such a rush as there was to get in and make the most of the opportunity has never been seen before on the Brooklyn race track. The stampede to the bar beat the crush of a Brooklyn handicap day.

"Whitney pays." was the cry when the rush began. "High balls," whisky straight and commonplace mixed drinks at first satisfied the thirsty guests of the lessee of the Derby winner, until some genius in the throng boldly demanded a cold pint of No quicker ordered than it was served. Others saw the man and instantly fell into line. "Cold bottles" for everybody were in order from that moment. McGrath rubbed his hands in glee.

Soon the bars were surrounded by mobs. In the field the rush of imbibers all but In the field the rush of imbibers an but swamped the bar. In the grandstand in closure men were reeling under their unaccustomed choice of liquors early in the afternoon. By the time the second race was run, intoxicated men were stumbling over the grandstand and lawn, and by the time the third race was run there were sleepeing examples of the evil of drink all over the lawn.

an umpire, no matter how raw I think his work, and never mention the word to Ban unless he asks me. But last year, when in Milwaukee, we had Captillion, and I thought he was giving us the worst of it right along, and intentionally. I never made any bones telling Joe that I didn't want him in the town, and often said so very forcibly. One day I heard that he had been called to Chicago by President Johnson. I saw Joe in the club house packing.
"'So you're going, are you?' I said to him. 'Well, I'm glad of it, and it'll be many a long day before we see you back many a long day betwee the see you back here again.'

"That night Cantillion and President Johnson held a conference."
"This is a tough business, and I guess I'd better get out of it,' said the umpire in opening the subject to Ban.
"What's wrong?' queried the president.

"Well, it seems to me a pretty tough proposition when I am told in my own town never come back. And then, too, Mack must have lots of influence in this league to tell me I won't be sent there again for many a long day."

"Did Connie Mack say that?" asked Ban, edging nearly off his chair.

"'Did Connie Mack say that?" asked Ban, edging nearly off his chair.

"Those were his parting words to me tonight," replied Joe.

"You go back there and work tomorrow," was Ban's order.

"Well, when I saw Joe, come on the field that day I nearly fell off the bench, but I learned a lesson. And McGraw will find out the same thing." Flight From Rennert, N. C.

Base Ball Notes.

Ban Johnson called down Manager Duffy a few days ago for talking for publication about his staff of umpires. Duffy was quoted in a Milwaukee paper as saying the American League umpires were not capable of doing high-grade work. When asked where he studied umpires and became a professional critic Duffy had to admit that it was in the National League, where the work is not any better. Duffy has not been heard to speak of the umpire since Johnson gave him his talking to. Washington, in fact, set about the game almost from the start as if it were the rightful property of the Senatorial outfit. In the second round Pop Foster-who, by the way, or buy the wine, is now leading the American League in batting—drove out a three-bagger that wore Hoy's shoes off to the ankles pursuing its meanderings.
After various bits of foolishness Pop scored on Clarke's single. In the third Farrell hit safely, and then came one Samuel Dungan to the rubber. Mr. Dungan, when at home in the winter, is a sign painter. Gazing adown the lane, he saw at the far end of the field a sign that much resembled one of his own copyrighted daubs. "There is a rank infringe-ment," quoth Mr. Dungan. "I will even go and see about it." And he went, first driv-ing the ball ahead of him. The ball went over the fence, and Mr. Dungan, who is baldheaded as well as a sign painter, am-bled around with ghoulish glee.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Manager Mack Tells His Experience With Johnson's Umpires.

From the Chicago Chronicle.

While in Chicago, Connie Mack said of his experiences with Johnson:
"Speaking about kicking on umpires, here's a good one on me. I seldom kick on appears to be having more trouble with the Baltimore club than Uncle Sam ever had with a lot of Indians filled with firewater. The latest kick made by "Mugsy" McGraw, the Aguinaldo of the American League, is over Hughey Jennings. McGraw claims Jennings promised to play with him before the Athletics' agents made the famous infielder their big offer. Hughey, however, says the phia and that McGraw must keep his hands off that player. Now it is said Mc-Graw threatens that Baltimore will quit the league unless he gets Jennings, and the point is still in dispute.—Philadelphia Press.

Weak Women

find Strength in BLOOD and NERVE REMEDY

Mme. Yale's HAIR

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

It affords me great pleasure to call the attention of the public to Mme. Yale's Excelsior Hair Tonic, which is the first and only remedy known to chemistry which positively turns gray hair back to its original color without dye. It has gone on record that Mme. M. Yale—wonderful woman chemist—has made this most valuable of all chemical discoveries. Mme. Yale personally indorses its action, and gives the public her solemn guaranty that it has been tested in every conceivable way and has proved itself to be the ONLY Hair Specific. It STOPS HAIR FALLING immediately and creates a luxurious growth. Contains no injurious ingredient. Physicians and chemists invited to analyze it. It is not sticky or greasy; on the contrary, it makes the hair soft, youthful, fluffy and keeps it in curl. For gentlemen and indies with hair a little gray, streaked gray, entirely gray and with baid heads, it is especially recommended.

COLOR RESTORED.

March 5, 1900.

Dear Madame Yale:—I can conscientiously recommend your Hair Tonic to any one, as I have found it just what you claim it to be. My hair was falling out and beginning to turn gray. I have used six bottles of your Hair Restorer and my hair has regained its natural color, the gray hairs having almost disappeared and have stopped falling out entirely. I have a great deal of confidence in all of your goods, as all that I have used have given entire satisfaction. Mrs. G. A. WINEMAN, 406 Warren ave., Detroit, Mich. MANUFACTURED ONLY BY 189 Michigan Boulevard. Chicago. SPECIAL PRICE on Madame Yale's 79°.
